

A T T A C H M E N T

Claim 80 (second amendment). I claim a multiple program access method having a storage capability with a limited capacity, the improvement including:

the storage being random access capable, storing at least two of the multiple programs in the program material storage having a limited capacity and automatically overwriting previously stored program material including at least some program material which has not been previously accessed based on determinable criteria developed from a known set of priorities, said known set of priorities which includes at least one priority other than updating of existing program materials.